APPENDIX 6.17 Recommendations for Authority to conduct a recognised AKR dojo

There is a need to document fundamental requirements to enable the formation of a recognised dojo within the AKR to conduct kendo, iaido or jodo training.

The following guidelines are therefore recommended.

Instructor qualification.

- All currently active Club Instructors as at 1st October 2005 will continue to be recognised but are required to ensure they have all of the requirements listed in this document in place by 31st December, 2006.
- All clubs should be formed under the overall guidance or mentoring of an Area member holding the minimum of Godan level in the art being taught. When there is no Godan or higher member available the next highest level should fulfil this role in the interim.
- The recommended level of the Club Instructor is ideally Sandan level in the art being taught, however, in remote areas or where there is insufficient availability of senior Instructors the a minimum of Shodan within the art being taught and recognised by the AKR Grading System is acceptable.
- The Instructor should have a minimum qualification in Level 1 General Coaching Principles.
- The Instructor should attend a National or International Seminar in the art being conducted annually to ensure their person progression is in line with National/International standards.
- Approval for Instructor status for those below Sandan level is to be conducted by the Board responsible for the art in conjunction with recommendations from the State Renmei.
- Instructors should hold professional Indemnity Insurance for their own protection.
- Instructors should be open to advice from senior AKR members of the art being taught and invite attendance at club seminars to assist in special training from time to time.
- Club Instructors may invite technical assistance from their relevant Board when required.

Club Administration.

- The Club must have a satisfactory administration system in place to fully integrate the requirements of their State Renmei and requirements documented in the AKR Manual of Documents.
- The Club must operate under the relevant State Renmei Constitution.
- All members should be protected by the relevant State Government Code of Conduct and Safe Practises acts.
- The Club must administer all membership fees and documentation requirements within the time frames outlined in AKR and State Renmei Rules and Guidelines.
- A record of all injuries occurring during, or as a direct result from, training should be maintained by the Club Administration.
- All Gradings must be conducted in accordance with the AKR Manual of Documents

Dojo facilities.

- The dojo facilities must be safe and proper for the conduct of the relevant art being taught.
- Facilities must be protected by adequate Public Liability Insurance, preferably as part of a AKR or State Renmei Policy.
- Full details of the Club should be updated with the State Renmei and AKR Executive annually or whenever changes are made that warrant an update.
- A Safety Inspection of the dojo and equipment should be conducted by the Club Instructor prior to commencing any training and defects noted and rectified or precautions taken to protect members from suffering injury.

Membership Rules.

- New members must follow a specified Club Beginners course or induction period
- All new members are to be financial State Renmei Members within four weeks of commencing training.
- Records of Attendance at training should be maintained by the Club Instructor or Administrator and kept on file in the event of any legal challenge or Insurance Claims.

Club recognition

- The Club Instructor and Club Administration should be given due representation and support by the State Renmei.
- All Club instructors should be given support and recognition as an autonomous club providing they comply with the general direction of policy and procedures documented by the AKR Executive Committee, relevant Board and their respective State Renmei.
- A list of Approved Club Instructors should be maintained by the relevant State Renmei and the relevant Board kept informed.
